women," said Shulman. "It undermines their morals and impairs their health. "Of the girls are smoking in public to some of the tea rooms in this city. The women are smoking not because they like it, but because it has become a fad, because it is the thing to do, because it is smart. "One theatre in New York has not only a special smoking room for women, and unless you want to stop to here we may have the same thing going on in our own theatres. "CALLED HARRY VILE. Bishop Hughes of the Methodist Church in the favor of the anti-smoking bill, Shulman said, and he quoted the Rev. A. G. Connel of the Park Street Church as saying that "smoking by women is a blot on the face of the nation. "It is vile, vulgar, and dirty," said Shulman. "Some women smoke for the purpose of attracting attention. All immoral women smoke. "It has been the cause of many family rows and will have as much to do with smoking by women be abandoned in the future. "Some people will say I am a subject for the Psychopathic Hospital for my morals of the women should be prohibited from smoking cigarettes more than working girls. "If the women are in favor of it,"

Lloyd George in Bed With Bronchial and Nervous Troubles

London, March 6.—Illness of Premier Lloyd George today brought a temporary lull in his violent political battle with the Tory "die hards" in the coalition party. After conferring briefly with Unionist leaders in the coalition government, who were trying to effect a settlement, the Premier took to his bed, suffering from nervous strain and an old bronchial affliction. Announcement was made this afternoon at the Premier's official residence that Lloyd George's physician had ordered him to rest for a fortnight. The Premier plans to go to Cricieth, Wales, when he is able to travel. In the meanwhile, Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, will carry on the Premier's duties.

Kishner, representing the Personal Liberty League, asserted that "no decent woman smokes." He said the law was unnecessary. W. W. Davis, representing the hotel men, said it would be impossible to stop a woman from smoking in her private room in the hotel. "If smoking is an evil for women, it is an evil for men," said Davis. "If smoking is an evil for men, it is an evil for women. Leave it to the women to raise their own standards. As a publicity stunt, this bill is a woman's right to smoke. "Compulsion causes revolutions. Prohibition causes crime. If reformers continue, ice cream sodas will be prohibited."

LLOYD GEORGE ENDS CRISIS, TO STAY IN OFFICE

Action is Reported to Follow Appeal Made by Lord Birkenhead

London, March 6 (By the Associated Press).—It was authoritatively reported in parliamentary circles this afternoon, says the London Press Association, that the political crisis was terminated by the decision of Prime Minister Lloyd George to continue in office in deference to the urgent appeal of his Unionist colleagues. The question of guarantee of loyalty from the rank and file of the Unionists has been temporarily waived, says the report. This appeal is understood to have been made to the Premier at the dinner given last night by Lord Birkenhead, the Lord High Chancellor, where the international situation was strongly emphasized. His Unionist colleagues assured Mr. Lloyd George of their anxiety to do everything possible to support his coalition government.

FRENCH EXPERTS FIX PROGRAM FOR GENOA

Paris, March 6 (By International News Service).—Experts who have completed their report on France's part in the Genoa conference suggested the creation of a mixed committee composed of French and Italian experts to protect foreign interests in Italy. The committee would be charged with the task of investigating the situation in Italy, and the international situation was strongly emphasized. His Unionist colleagues assured Mr. Lloyd George of their anxiety to do everything possible to support his coalition government.

SHIP CAUGHT IN ICE

Efforts to Free the Bornholm, Five Days Out of St. John's, Unsuccessful

Halifax, N. S., March 6.—The Danish liner Bornholm, operated on the Boston-Halifax-St. John's route by the Tri-National Steamship Company, was caught in the ice about seventy miles southwest of Cape Race, according to a wireless dispatch received today by the intelligence department of the navy from the steamship Canadian Rapier, via Cape Race. The Canadian Rapier reported the Bornholm held in by a heavy ice field in latitude 46° north, longitude 54° 10 west, and that efforts by that ship to free the craft were unavailing. The Bornholm has sufficient coal aboard for eight days. Captain Rouse of the Canadian Rapier reported that he made every effort to get to the Bornholm. At a certain time he got to within twenty miles of her but could go no farther and had to head south. He said the Canadian Rapier was proceeding to Halifax at slow speed through heavy ice.

The Bornholm is five days out from St. John's, and is now in the ice. The Bornholm left Boston February 14 and was due to reach Halifax five days later. She has been caught in the ice on the trip up and was released after two days by Canadian government icebreakers. She then stopped at Halifax and later proceeded to St. John's, where she was unloaded. The trip back to St. John's was interrupted in the ice the second time. She is now in the ice, carrying passengers. On the present trip she said there are no passengers aboard.

MRS. READ NOT FOR SLAVE, SAYS WOMAN

Medford Man Tells of $9,000 Furnished by Testatrix in Fight on Will Quits board advice did not influence Mrs. Mary A. Read, according to testimony given by an old friend of the dead woman, the content of whose will was contested before Judge O'Connell and a jury in the Suffolk County Superior Court today. Mrs. Read left the major portion of a $12,000 estate to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and her will is being contested by three sisters, three nieces and two nephews. The contestants claim that the testatrix intended to "undo and after his death" by Joseph C. Aldrich, a relative of Mrs. Read's husband.

Testimony intended to show the contents of Mrs. Read's will was given today in a deposition by Mrs. Grace G. Small of North Truro and read to the jury. Referring to the report that Mrs. Read was influenced by the cattle board, Mrs. Small said she once saw Mrs. Read, a sister of Mrs. Read, and that she was in the room when Mrs. Read was making her will. Mrs. Read was "in the room" when she and Mrs. Read were sitting at the table. "I saw her at that time, according to this witness, the board advised her to make her will, and she was sitting at the table. After the session was over and Mrs. Read had gone, Mrs. Small said Mrs. Read told her: "I want to want me to get rid of my property on the Cape."

TELLS OF FINANCE

This evidence was intended to show that Mrs. Read was not fooled by the board or its manipulations. Roydon C. Kirk, approximately forty years old, married and living at No. 35 Cambridge street, Medford, was the next witness. His name had been mentioned by former witnesses as having been one of the men who had been with Mrs. Read when she was making her will. "I saw her at that time, according to this witness, the board advised her to make her will, and she was sitting at the table. After the session was over and Mrs. Read had gone, Mrs. Small said Mrs. Read told her: "I want to want me to get rid of my property on the Cape."

3 ADULT GILT 'AUTO RIG' CASES OF $10,000

A sensation was provided at the afternoon session of the trial of Attorney George K. Perry and five others on auto theft conspiracy charges today when three of the defendants entered pleas of guilty. Those who admitted guilt were Jeremiah Burdick, charged with two counts with receiving stolen cars, one of larceny and one of conspiracy; Harry E. Rice, accused of receiving stolen cars on eight counts, and of conspiracy; and Charles J. Grady, charged with three counts of receiving stolen cars and one count of conspiracy. This action was taken by the three after Chief Judge J. M. Smith, in the East Cambridge Superior Criminal Court, read the twenty-five indictments against the six defendants. The jury had been completed an hour earlier.

Other emotional developments in the case were expected momentarily. The defendants who entered pleas of guilty, besides Perry, were Daniel K. Colman, of Melrose and John M. Barry of Woburn. Because of the interest which was being taken in the case, the motion picture camera was turned on to the courtroom when the jury was being called.

Each side had fifty-four challenges to exercise if necessary as to the number of defendants and the number of indictments facing each one. The state used fifteen, the number of indictments facing each one. The state used fifteen, the number of indictments facing each one. STANDS BY HER

Expectations that a statement from the Kenney would be read admitting the shortage and telling of where the money went, failed to materialize. Since her arrest on Saturday at the home of a friend in West Roxbury she had refused to make a statement. "Weight's attempt to furnish bail for her was no surprise to Northford residents. Since her arrest, he has stood by her, although the shortage falls upon him and will be a heavy burden practically bereft. His savings of a lifetime are gone and a home is being sold."

These after cheer went up as various speakers urged America to "remove the blot from its flag" by rewarding the veterans for their heroism and sacrifice. But perhaps the most impressive applause of the entire meeting came when Mayor James M. Curley arose to endorse William Randolph Hearst for the fight which his newspapers have made for the bonus.

"Some day the United States will form a just appreciation of the obligation that all America will some day hold for William Randolph Hearst, the man who has done more than anyone else in the country to focus attention on an injustice in America which is staining our flag," cried Mayor Curley.

"We may not always agree with him, but we will all admit that he has been always a courageous, clear-sighted, whole-hearted type of real American. His contribution was never more valued than in this fight for the preservation of American honor and for the keeping unblemished of the American flag."

Other speakers joined in their praise of the work Mr. Hearst has been doing in the soldier bonus bill. "When the chairman of the meeting, Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle, a well-known veteran, remarked, at the close of the presentation of his introductory speech, 'this meeting is under the auspices of the Boston American,' the hall was rocked with cheers."

At the close of the meeting two resolutions were passed unanimously, with great applause.

One put the gathering on record as demanding that Congress and the Senate of the United States take immediate action to pass the bonus bill. The other resolution extended to Mr. Hearst and to the Boston American the "deepest gratitude" of the men and women present at the meeting "for this interest on behalf of the veterans of the World War."

CURLEY'S ADDRESS. Boston's fighting Mayor touched a responsive chord in the hearts of the fighting men when he addressed them after time his plea for justice for the ex-soldier was interrupted by prolonged cheers. His very appearance in the hall was the signal for a demonstration.

"I say that the presentation of a soldier bonus can't be done—that it would ruin America," said Curley. He paused, then leaned over the edge of the stage to the audience, shaking an impassioned finger.

"I say it's a lie!"

Resolutions Adopted at Faneuil Hall Meeting

The full text of the resolutions adopted at the mammoth Faneuil Hall mass meeting to demand the immediate passage by Congress of the five-fold adjusted compensation bill follows. The first reads:

Whereas, the plights of the veterans of the World War was indeed serious, especially those who were physically as well as financially disabled, and when a friend was needed to take up their fight, such a friend in the form of a public newspaper came forward and succeeded in arousing public sentiment to the conditions;

Be it resolved that this gathering composed of veterans and civilians, men and women alike, go on record as expressing to William Randolph Hearst, through the Boston American, our deepest gratitude for this interest on behalf of the veterans of the World War.

The other resolution reads:

Whereas, it was an act of God to inspire the Congress and Senate of the United States in 1917, after due deliberation on the virtue and opportunity of service to mankind, to order the flower of American youth to go forth and enter the great World War;

Whereas, it was with full knowledge of the sufferings and sacrifices of lives that the Congress and Senate voted to send forth the youth of America to war, and further fully realizing the tremendous personal financial sacrifices of the warriors; and

Whereas, many individuals who remained at home during the war commercialized their opportunities caused by the war, and many were not only spared physical sufferings but also became financially wealthy; and

Whereas, there has been a plan presented whereby certain economic inequalities caused by the war might be corrected and an opportunity given to the armed representatives of our beloved United States to select one of five options, any one of which tend to a certain degree toward the readjustment of the veterans; so be it

Resolved, that the Congress and Senate of the United States be demanded to take immediate steps to put into law the five-fold adjusted compensation plan for the veterans of the World War, as presented by the American Legion; and be it further

Resolved, that this meeting go on record as unanimously in favor of requesting the honorable members of the Congress and Senate of the United States to recall the trying days of the war when the Central Powers who sought to dominate the world were being beaten on all sides through the bravery and devotion of American troops and the assistance of those in camps and at home, and that their sense of justice and their consciences will then compel them to pass immediately the five-fold plan of readjustment for World War veterans.

NURSE PURSUES MAN AND MAKES HIM GIVE UP

Miss Margaret Riley Captures Pocketbook Thief and Causes Arrest

How Miss Margaret Riley, a young nurse at the Massachusetts General Hospital, gave chase to John Shesby of Rochester street, South End, who stole a pocketbook, took the wallet containing $31.10 away from him and turned him over to the police, was related in Municipal Court today when Shesby was charged with the larceny.

Miss Riley, who is a telephone operator at the hospital, said she noticed Shesby standing there.

When she left the booth and walked away about ten feet, she said she remembered leaving her pocketbook. Turning around, she saw Shesby rushing from the room and down the street.

Miss Riley also saw Shesby dash out of the hospital and she gave chase. She caught him on Fruit street, where Shesby turned the money over to her, she then called the police.

Shesby pleaded not guilty and Judge Parmenter continued the case until next Tuesday.

PRIEST BLAMES PRO-GERMAN CHARGES

Declares Sentiment Against Him During the War Caused Tarring

Amarillo, Texas, March 4.—J. G. Keller, Catholic priest at Alton, who was seized by masked men and beaten, tarred and feathered, and afterward released, today said that the incident was the climax of sentiment due to pro-German accusations against him during the war.

He said he was denied final citizenship papers in Federal Court here last June, on the ground that he had registered as a German agent after taking out his first naturalization papers. Father Keller, who was ordered to leave Alton, said the court had instructed him to make complaint on for first papers and to go through the entire proceeding again, but that he had not had sufficient time to do this.

The masked band is reported to have comprised both Catholics and Protestants of Alton. A mass meeting held at Alton adopted resolutions declaring the attack on the priest was not directed at the Catholic church as an institution, but at the priest as an individual.

SALE OF BRY'S BURIAL LOT STOPS INSTANT

Parents Protest Removal of Body to Another Lot in Cemetery

Sale by the town of Nahant of the lot in the Greenwood Cemetery, which Charge Kempton of Castle road, Nahant, says he owns, and in which the body of his infant son, Donald, was buried ten years ago and later removed to another lot over the father's protest, has aroused a storm of criticism in the town.

Not in recent years has sentiment been there at such a fever heat as it is at present over the mishap by town authorities over the Kempton lot. Kempton had the terrifying experience of going to the cemetery and seeing the monument for Alice G. Barton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Barton of Nahant, who was killed in the war while serving in the British Expeditionary Force in 1918, erected on the lot in which his child was buried. Kempton, attending the funeral of a friend when he made the discovery.

MRS. KEMPTON UNNERVED. Mrs. Kempton, who learned of the removal of her baby and recalls the lot to another only a few days ago, is bordering on a nervous breakdown. Bidding almost to be returned to her baby's remains in order to their rightful place.

Mr. Kempton told a reporter for the Boston American that on July 5, 1912, his child was buried. He said he paid the required fee of $1 for the lot and $2 for opening the grave. The body was paid to William Johnson, then caretaker at the cemetery and now dead. He never received a deed.

"About two years ago I went to the cemetery to attend the funeral of a friend," said Mrs. Kempton. "I discovered on my lot a monument for a soldier named Barton, who was killed in the war."

"I told him my child was buried there and through his help I begged him not to move the remains, but when he told me I had no right to the lot, I took him to a fact and did nothing to interfere with the removal."

"I never told my wife about it until the other day, because I did not want to cause her any tears and open up a painful memory for her. A few days ago came a deed to the monument for the lot in which the child had been removed."

Records Clerk H. J. told a Boston American reporter that there were no deeds to show that the original monument belonged to the town. The Kempton now claim that the monument belonged to the town. The town now claim that the monument belonged to the town.

Rich Builder Shot to Death in Joking Over Eurgars

New Hyde Park, L. I., March 4.—John never before had in the accidental shooting and death of Theodore Gies, wealthy builder of this city. The shot was fired by Joseph L. Hotelstad, a policeman and a close friend of Mr. Gies.

Gies told Hotelstad that he thought the policeman was a burglar when he saw him prowling around the house before he took his revolver from his holster, the pistol being accidentally discharged at the time.

The bullet pierced Gies' neck, causing instant death. Gies was a member of the New York State Police and was a close friend of the late Mayor LaGuardia.

TRAGEDY BRINGS HUSBAND BACK TO WIFE

Fatal Newton Shooting Results in Reconciliation of Atwood Couple

The double tragedy, Tuesday, which resulted in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Atwood of West Newton and the wedding of Mrs. Genevieve Atwood, at their home, has resulted in the reconciliation of Mrs. Atwood and her husband, Alfred Atwood of Waltham, from whom she had been separated.

Atwood, an engineer at a Waltham box factory, has been a daily visitor at his wife's bedside in the Newton Hospital. Both he and his wife have agreed to "forget and forgive," he declares, and when Mrs. Atwood is discharged from the hospital sometime during the coming week the couple will resume housekeeping together.

"I never lost faith in my wife," he stated. "We had our differences and they have been settled. From now on we can face the future together."

Beauty that is really skin deep

Quite true that beauty is only skin deep—have you ever thought how deep that really is?

Your skin is not a mere surface to be washed off or oiled smooth. It has depth—and to be soft and beautiful on the surface it must be healthy and clean ALL THROUGH.

That is what Lifebuoy does.

It gently but thoroughly acts upon the whole depth of the skin. It clears the pores of waste matter. It invigorates relaxed and enlarged pores. It awakens the skin to healthy life.

No soap ever did that before.

Lifebuoy's health principle, in combination with pure palm and coconut oils, has given the world a new idea of caring for the skin—and the results are wonderful.

You will find them wonderful, too.

Lifebuoy's health odor is delightful

GRL CLERKS SHOULDER AT PIER ODOUR

Motor Registration Employees Aver "It's Terrible," Others Say "It Ain't"

"All the perfumes of Arabia," said Phil Shakespeare once said, cannot overcome the odor when a consignment of thousands of pickled hides arrives at Commonwealth Pier.

So says one group of girls in the office of the State Motor Registration Bureau, plaintively bewailing the high cost of perfume they feel compelled to buy to relieve their discomfort.

Another group, however, avers that the odor from the hides which comes from South America, has caused an annoyance only on two occasions since the Registration Bureau was moved from the old House of the Pier.

Miss Mary Flavin of Concord, head of the mail room, is quite positive about the odor from the hides. More than once, she says, she has been forced to go home, she says.

On the other hand, Mrs. Emily Warren, while admitting that there is an odor, emphatically declares that it has penetrated upstairs in the pier only once or twice and never into the office.

So city poet Clement A. Norton, here's plaintively bewailing the high cost of perfume they feel compelled to buy to relieve their discomfort.

Another group, however, avers that the odor from the hides which comes from South America, has caused an annoyance only on two occasions since the Registration Bureau was moved from the old House of the Pier.

AUTOISTS FIGHT PLAN TO JUMP STATE TAX

Levy on Gasoline Also Opposed at Crowded Hearing at the State House

Auto owners of the State today arose as one man and cried out in protest against the new scheme to double auto registration fees and to impose a tax of 2 cents on every gallon of gasoline used in the State.

Hundreds of auto owners appeared to voice their protest at the hearing before the legislative Committee on Ways and Means in the State House yesterday, jamming the big hearing room to the doors.

Every auto association in the State sent a delegation in protest against the tax increase. One petition of protest contained the signatures of 1,500 auto owners.

"NO PUBLIC DEMAND"

Among the organizations protesting were the Massachusetts Automobile Dealers' and Garage Association and the Motor Truck Club, both represented by Jay Baker, the Automobile Legal Association, by William A. Thibodeau, the National Manufacturers State and the Bay State Automobile Associations and local clubs from cities like Worcester, Springfield and Pittsfield.

Under the scheme proposed by Chairman John N. Cole of the State Department of Public Works, the fees would be increased from 50 to 100 per cent, to be collected on a horsepower basis. The present fees range from $10 to $25 per car, while the fee recommended by Cole would range from $15 to $40.

The two cents a gallon tax urged by a special commission on State expenditures would take at least $1,000,000 a year out of the auto drivers.

COLOR INCREASE

Attorney Thibodeau said the auto owners and drivers last year paid fees and fines into the State amounting to $1,400,000, and with the logical increase in the number of cars on the road by 1924 they will be turning $18,000,000 a year into the State treasury. He said the proposed gas tax would cost about $25 a year for every auto truck in the State if only one cent a gallon were collected.

He declared that the auto owners will doubtless take their protest to the United States Supreme Court if the fees are increased. There is no mandate in the constitution, he said, which allows the Legislature to impose unreasonable burdens upon any class.

He said the auto fees were increased a few years ago on the ground that the autoists should be taxed for the highways which they impair, but now that the autoists are paying every penny of the cost of road rehabilitation, the State officials come forward with the excuse that the cars should be taxed for the cost of new highway construction.

"We cannot understand," he said, "when Governor Cox has announced a reduction in state taxes of $8,000,000 why the automobile should be required to pay more than $2,000,000 a year, an average of $16 per individual car owner."

Thibodeau said there is no public demand for the imposition of the new taxes. The only demand comes, he said, from the Commissioner of Public Works, some contractors who would profit by it and others who may have a pecuniary interest in a greater or lesser degree."

Among the speakers tomorrow will be Dr. John Y. Aikin, Dr. Hugh A. Heath, Dr. James H. Franklin and Dr. Charles L. White.

2,000 ITALIAN TROOPS KEEP ORDER IN FIUME

Milan, March 6 (The International News Service).—Two thousand Italian soldiers, Carabinieri and Royal Guard, are maintaining order at Fiume today. Funerals of the victims in the fighting between the Fiumisti and the police were held without demonstration. Two hundred American tourists, braving the dangers of warfare in Fiume, ventured into the city and were given an enthusiastic welcome.

BARTLETT URGED AS ASSISTANT TO WORK

Washington, March 6.—The name of John H. Bartlett, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, is prominently mentioned for the position of first assistant postmaster general. Mr. Bartlett, a former Governor of New Hampshire, was appointed to the Civil Service Commission in June of last year by President Harding to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Martin A. Morrison, then chairman.

Attorney Thibodeau said the auto owners and drivers last year paid fees and fines into the State amounting to $1,400,000, and with the logical increase in the number of cars on the road by 1924 they will be turning $18,000,000 a year into the State treasury. POLICEMAN IS SMALL PLACED ON TRIAL IN GIRL'S CASE

Arrested as Accomplice of Nurse Charged With Operating on Shalburne Falls Girl

Patrolman Charles Flynn of the Harbor Police has been arrested charged with being an accessory with Margaret Proctor, Boston nurse, arrested a week ago charged with performing illegal surgery.

Flynn was arraigned in Municipal Court and held in $1,000 for the Grand Jury. He waived examination.

The Proctor woman is out on $10,000 bail.

According to the police, Flynn took Alice Hall of Shalburne Falls to the Proctor home on Dartmouth street, where arrangements were made for her care.

The girl is in City Hospital recovering from the effects of the operation. Flynn was arrested while in uniform by Sergeant John D. McDonald of the East Endham street station. He is about thirty years old.

Burbank Would Keep Children Under 10 Out of School

San Francisco, Cal., March 6.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, who will celebrate his 71st birthday Tuesday, in an address at a mass meeting in his honor advocated the use of the lessons of the plant life in rearing of children.

"I am convinced," said the creator of thousands of new plants and trees, "that the same treatment, and care necessary to the highest development of plant life is also essential to the highest development of human life."

"No boy or girl should be permitted to see the inside of a school house until he or she is at least ten years of age."

Five various State banking institutions will be introduced by the proposition in an effort to substitute a charge that more than $19,000,000 in interest was collected and "locked" by Governor Small and Lieutenant Governor Fred E. Sterling during their terms as State treasurer.

The trial of Small brings to a climax the joint indictment of the Governor, Sterling and Vernon S. Curtis, a banker of Grant Park, Ill.

PERMITS BOOST OF $1.35 IN TAX LIMIT

Committee Reports Bill to Legislature Setting $12.35
for Boston

The Legislative Committee on Municipal Finance voted today to report a bill to the Legislature, fixing the Boston tax limit at $12.35.

This is a partial victory for Mayor Curley, who sought a limit of $13.35. The present limit is $11.00. In his fight for a higher limit Mayor Curley said it would take $250,000 to run the city this year. He estimated that a $13.35 limit would yield the city a taxable income of $1,000,000. The rest of the necessary money, he said, would come from other sources.

The $12.35 limit favored by the committee will net the city $500,000. With the $10,000,000, which the mayor asked to be raised from other sources, this will leave the city $2,000,000 short of the amount estimated by the mayor as necessary for the current year.

It is understood that friends of the Mayor on Boston Hill will endeavor to influence the Legislature to let him use the "bookkeeping balance" of $2,000,000 left over from the Foster administration to meet the deficit.

The committee voted down the Mayor's bill asking that the city be allowed to fix its own tax limit without reference to the Legislature.

Representatives Mulvey, Chapman and Corbett, Democratic members of the committee, dissented from the committee's report.

FALL RIVER BLOCK DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fall River, March 6.—The A. J. Barren Building, situated on South State street, with two stories on the ground floor, and offices on the second floor, was damaged by fire and explosion. The fire started on the cellar and worked its way through the walls. The damage will probably reach between $12,000 and $15,000.

THE FACE on the Ball Room floor! When women hustle dance in business they're keen on facts, and the ball-photo is intriguing them at present. In other words, he may be very close to her heart, but he's also close to the pavement. (Photogram)

UNWITTING OFFENDERS! Pigeons are being used to carry cocaine and other narcotics from Canada to the United States, it has been disclosed to the New York authorities. The little box attached to this bird contained valuable drugs. (Photogram)

A GEORGIA PEACH. Down By The Beach! Mrs. Kibbe Crump of Macon, Ga., journeyed down to Miami and with this bathing suit crooked away with first prize in the 1922 bathing parade. She didn't steal it—she won it! And it was easy work, too. (Wide World)

SUITABLE SUIT! Every smart girl likes to have at least one sport outfit. Here's an ideal suit in black with a white cross bar and large patch pockets. The lapels are faced with white flannel. The hat is of black and silver braid. (Underwood)

A PAIR O' YOUNGSTERS! Miss Alva Miller, a swimming instructor at Miami Beach, Fla., and "Carl," the infant elephant, are the best of friends. He permits her to wade him out into the water and then use him as a diving board. Both are "in the swim" at Miami. (Underwood)

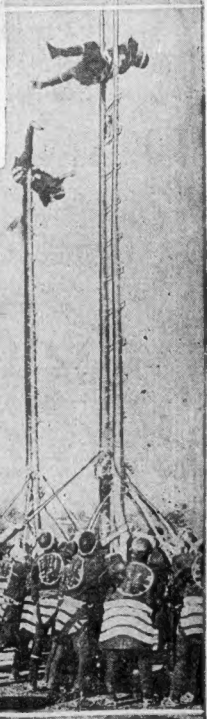

ALL LEGS—But The Hope Of The Racing World! The first foal of Man-O-War, but to her owner, Samuel J. Riddle, this little filly is worth her weight in gold. She combines the best blood of the American turf for the past 30 years. Most talked of foal of the season. (Underwood)

WANTS US To Have 13 Months! Messrs. B. Cotsworth of Vancouver, British Columbia, has devised a new calendar to offer in place of our defective one. It includes an extra month between June and July, to be known as Sol. There is a bill up in Congress for the adoption of this calendar. He would have 13 months of 28 days each. (Underwood)

FAULTY GRIP MAY PROVE REASON FOR TENDER HANDS, SAYS JOCK

The hands are always a source of worry to the golfer and always will be. There are so many different ways of taking hold of a club that it is impossible to set down one hard and fast rule in connection with the grip.

Recently a golfer wrote to ask what could be done for tender hands. I suggest mainly the one who plays with tender hands must look to the grip and the way he swings the club.

Three Major League Leaders Favor Base Running in Trying to Win

By HUGH S. FILLERTON.

Baseball fans who have followed the major league season for the past few years will have additional cause for wonder and amazement. There are three managers of major league clubs who are determined to revive the custom of base-running.

Red Russell, who has followed the game for 30 years, has fallen into disfavor with the fans. In the last carnival which started two years ago, and which increased steadily up to July 4 last, he was a serious problem as to whether he was running the crowd out of the ballpark, or was waiting to be battered around the diamond.

Three years have been a time when baseball has been in a bad way. It is now as, as the pitchers are more strictly held than ever before, and are fearful of injury to watch batters. What the rules restricting pitchers and having certain styles of pitching were intended to do, it was intended that they would reverse base-running to an extraordinary degree. Now, it is probable that the level ball game along to its old-time popularity. (It is probable would have been true.

But the fans have responded to get out of all permission, pitchers to get out of the game. The chances of a batter being hit are only a small fraction of what they were only a few years ago. It is not that he is not, and that with the ball hitting the pitcher's head, he has a line hit that would yield two runs.

Ortiff, at Washington, and Cobb, at Detroit, are the two players who run the bases and take advantage of the nature of the game. At Chicago, is another convert to the ing in the majors. During the previous years, the players at that stadium have been installed in the majority of the training camp, but an effort to restore the almost lost art of base running.

ST. PETE GROUNDS MAKE A HIT WITH BRAVES

By NICK FLATLEY.
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6.—The Braves started spring training today in this village, where they have sunshine and baseball weather so often that they have double-headers to the local league on Sundays only.

Manager Mitchell landed at camp with the Boston representative last night, and had a sound of ropes out for the initial warmup this p.m. The morning was devoted to getting the grounds out of the traffic, and signing contracts at the ball park and things like that.

Mitch arrived accompanied by Al Pearce, Johnny Carson, Gene Lanning, James Wilson, Ed Anderson, and a bunch of other players and coaches.

Hardly anybody knows these boys except by name, but the slippers hope that a few of the new will make it to the big league before September rolls into history.

Mitch is the Pittsburgh Pirate who was scared in a few years ago and then decided that he was in for it. He has a big, weathered face, and as soon as he gets into the dugout, he is a regular with a big, weathered face. He has been in the game for a long time, and he is a regular with a big, weathered face.

The rookies will start on double workouts tomorrow, and keep to that program until the regular season starts. All the young men are here, and they are all here. They are all here, and they are all here.

RUTH SIGNS WITH YANKS AT HIS OWN TERMS
